

SHIFT BRIEFING |

You must have a Need and Right

Access into and through the US Transborder/Pre-clearance Departure Area is strictly prohibited to personnel who are unauthorized to access and or not scheduled to work (need and right) within the area. Only those personnel with a need and right while in the performance of their work-related duties, as assigned by their employer, shall enter at any time.

To work in the transborder area, you must undergo background checks, in addition to those required by Transport Canada, when applying for a RAIC.

Those who are found to not have a need and right to be in the area will have their Restricted area identity cards (RAIC) suspended, involvement of your employer, and an investigation of the occurrence. It's also important to ensure passengers do not move through the Transborder area. Do you part to promote a positive security culture at Toronto Pearson.

Should you have any questions about your need and right to be in the transborder area, please contact Security Operations at 416-776-7381.
